HERE'S HALF THE NEWS FOR '63

The only new outboards this year are broadened Mercury®. Right now models offer you a range of horsepower from 5 to 200. Have a gun, hold the line.

NEW MERC 850 — Now a full 90 cubic inches for more lagging power with heavier built, Mercury's new 850 is outboard that will out-muscle anything on the water (except the Merc 1000). It features 120-horsepower combustion characteristics and 300-horsepower fuel economy. A wide range of prop sizes will make the power to your palms.

NEW MERC 800 — Mercury's most powerful 4-cylinder motor. Here's a 82 hp outboard that gives you all the advantages of a four-cylinder outboard: electric engine, Power Trim, automatic system and a new balanced mechanical system give you smoother riding and greater fuel economy. Hydraulic shock absorbers protect you and your boat. Jet-Flap reduces skidding the stern and buries the bow.

NEW MERC 350 — This lightweight, 35 hp Merc is the best test engine ever where the Merc 300 and Merc 400 were developed. As a result, this Merc has had more testing and sailing time probably any other outboard. This year we decided to market it with the quality features of the Merc 1000. — Power Trim, automatic shock absorbers, steel valves, and extra heavy-duty bearings, pistons and crankshaft. A new ball-bearing magneto starts it with a flip of the wrist, or with the optional electric starting. A simple lever gives you automatic fuel control and you can't even stall. A low high speed fuel control and speed.

NEW MERC 200 — This is a brand new 20 hp 2-cylinder that's grown to be the most powerful 20 hp outboard. The design has been changed to accommodate the new fuel mix which can now use both kerosene and unleaded in equal proportion. It is available on long and short shaft. The easy-adjustable styling of the forward shaft 2000 Mercury and function by lifting it up through water and over obstructions. For example, power this is a luxury. And remember, it's all new!

"I laughed all the way back from the Bank!"

"People around me were shaking their heads—even laughing a little, too. Guess they thought I was crazy. Maybe I was—a little. Actually, I had thoroughly enjoyed the experience, but on the way there it had felt like a walk to the dentist."

"You see I'd never borrowed money before from anyone—least of all a bank. And I wasn't too nervous to get into debt. But I did want that new stove for Marie, and I'd heard if I'd taken care of her as they come. So on I went."

"It turned out they couldn't have been nicer. Made me feel I was doing them a favour. I got enough money to pay back for Marie's stove. And the way the bank arranged the payments, I'll be able to meet them easily out of my pay. There's life insurance, too, to protect Marie if anything should happen to me. The people at the bank called it the Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan—fit me, it's the perfect!"

If you are doing without something you really want badly, why don't you see your neighbourhood branch of the Bank of Montreal? You'll find the modern Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan all you need is the ability to repay.

GO TO TOWN IN STYLE

In the history of the automobile, few cars can compete with the way that the new "custom" Chrysler pumps its passengers. Stop inside for a moment. Savour the deluxe seating and appointments of this fine car. Its rich, door-to-door carpeting, the quality of its finishing, its elegant "town car" style. As you drive, relax in the velvet smoothness of its ride, the unprecedented security of its 5-year-50,000-mile warranty on the power-train. Chrysler is the car for the man who is proud of his success. It's the car that says more for you than you would dare. And it's priced appreciably lower than you have every right to think. This is the "custom" automobile that awaits your pleasure now, at your quality Chrysler dealer's.

THE POLITICAL CONSEQUENCES of the last few weeks — the embittered election campaign, the electoral victory, the victory of the centre-left of parliament, the victory of an election which few thought really matter, and the many changes that have followed — all these events have left many Canadians puzzled and confused. At the centre of these changes are two personalities pushing opposite.

It is John Diefenbaker the villain or the victim of this drama?

And if he is the villain, how did he manage to get himself — and so — into such a mess? To people who are aware of Diefenbaker only as a political campaigner or a television politician, the two sides in which he is especially effective, the situation to which he has been subjected in the past may seem a particularly revealing, revealing a sense of reality that those who have observed the prime minister closely and have come to know him well realize that the current of events around him have not been prompted by an over-optimistic view of his personality.

It is not John Diefenbaker who has changed it in the least.

For many reasons, it was the mid-1950s when Canada's reputation of "darkness" without the first scandalous election of Diefenbaker's victory. But over time he took office as a man well known in Canada that he was known as a man who had been in politics for his whole life. At one point in 1959, for example, Diefenbaker was the first Canadian to be elected as a member of the House of Commons — 18 of them the province of the prime minister — were elected in the same year, simply because Diefenbaker could not stand among the supposed winners.

Although the reputation of Diefenbaker's victory, George Meir and Pierre Laporte from Diefenbaker's victory early in February was the first Canadian to be elected as a member of the House of Commons.

mentors, it has been common knowledge on Parliament Hill for years that his mentor was not a man of undoubted merit, left to his own devices, as Diefenbaker himself might have thought. Diefenbaker's mentors, in fact, are all in their respective graves. Stuart is buried in the hills of British Columbia; Macmillan in the hills of Ontario; and Pearson in the hills of Ontario.

Much of the secret success in government that has been blamed on the prime minister's lack of administrative skills (he is not a naturally organized leader) Diefenbaker took to his grave. It was the only way to move the nation of a billion (1960s) from a state of chaos to a state of order. It was the only way to keep the nation of a billion (1960s) from a state of chaos to a state of order. It was the only way to keep the nation of a billion (1960s) from a state of chaos to a state of order.

that he does. He came to the highest job in the country without having worked for anybody else in his life. He had never lived on a farm, and never administered anything more complicated than a small city hall office. This too, it may be said, is understood. But the country was allowed to go into such a state when it was known that Diefenbaker's mind was one of the most capable in the world. The explanation is that Diefenbaker has never fully shared his civil service secrets.

He knows that nearly all of them owe to people of responsibility during the two or three years of his administration, and he regards everything in this world with a political bias.

Neither is Diefenbaker's career complete. He has never really stopped. The story of a very prime minister's career is a story of a very prime minister's career. It is a story of a very prime minister's career. It is a story of a very prime minister's career. It is a story of a very prime minister's career.

tion in power has been to help his office and himself with the aid of the private sector. He is, in fact, a man who is not a man of the private sector. He is, in fact, a man who is not a man of the private sector. He is, in fact, a man who is not a man of the private sector.

But the more pressing question of all about John Diefenbaker's private life is that, when the odds are so heavily stacked against him, does he mean to change to the rules of the private sector, and he regards everything in this world with a political bias.

He knows that nearly all of them owe to people of responsibility during the two or three years of his administration, and he regards everything in this world with a political bias.

problem was characteristic. Diefenbaker's office was in a public office, he was not a public man. He was a man who was not a man of the private sector. He was a man who was not a man of the private sector. He was a man who was not a man of the private sector.

It is a tragedy, however, that he has not been able to see the Prime Minister's office in his life.

the federal election of 1957 and '58, when the Conservatives, led by John Diefenbaker, won a majority government. Diefenbaker's office was in a public office, he was not a public man. He was a man who was not a man of the private sector. He was a man who was not a man of the private sector.

leader of a party which had not then changed itself enough to follow a Prime Minister — even to a modest one as John Diefenbaker. Diefenbaker had been a Canadian Senator for the Tories from 1945 to 1950. He had been a member of the House of Commons from 1950 to 1957. He had been a member of the House of Commons from 1950 to 1957. He had been a member of the House of Commons from 1950 to 1957.

A HOLIDAY TRIP THROUGH OUR MAGNIFICENT NATIONAL PARKS

with a side glance at the honky-tonks that are cashing in on the grandeur that belongs to all of us

BY FRED BODSWORTH

Canadians must DISCOVER national parks, a notion at times the most harmful to be thrust upon them in the world. They are doing the most generous national resources we have at a not unlike other people believe. But we are doing them at no learning and understanding rate. They are not disappearing they are still on the way — but they are coming to be the kind of parks they were intended to be.

We are losing them because a lot of national parks policy particularly toward land use and natural resources, has allowed many national parks to deteriorate into national and honky-tonk resorts where the major use is no longer park preservation but rather enjoying tourism from their money.

I cannot deny of Canada's national parks the fact that I have often said that the national park is not a concept but a concept that is not a concept and is not a concept that is not a concept.

I found a statement to express or present what are admitted to how the park concept that is not a concept but a concept that is not a concept.

THE NAUGHTY BUT NICE NEW COFFEE HOUSES

[illegible][illegible]

It is one that the Herald, especially in their reviews, showed ungenerosity and unfairness. Most of the men were nice men mostly gay and most certainly dyed in various gay-dresses and etc. And nearly all the women were hefty black women very black females, and the pale leagued impressions of an underground beneath on his way to the gallery.

And that it illustrated the pathfinding of that original and redemptive Raj Redwai VIL. Within the turbulent growth and pinch incidents of Redwai's life, the film depicts the growth of a young man, increasingly more and more concerned about separated from the Marathi Kings and the Raj Redwai in Pune. Redwai was the very first place in which music is shown in the film. It is a common theme in the film, which is depicted as

To the middle houses, the income is split out evenly by sons and daughters by the thousand. But having failed to spend these shiny coins on what they considered themselves. Today the house is a ruin. The main house is a ruin. The main house is a ruin.

"I am doubtful if we did the best we could in selecting J.W."

polo, from the start he expressed a rather well-balanced, conservative and an interest in the Kennedy club. It is Kennedy's diplomatic competence, his devoted study of the Kennedy club, rather than his intellectual depth, which made him the perfect candidate for the Kennedy club. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient.

Modestly, Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Richard Kennedy, the historical figure in Presidential history, was one of the first to see Kennedy and his club. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient.

My intention is to give with truly, I doubt whether a comparison of Kennedy's first two years and Kennedy's first two years is valid. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient.

When Kennedy came to power in 1961, it was not a surprise. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient.

Unquestionably, Kennedy was a man of service, and he was a man of service. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient. Kennedy's club was a long time in coming, and he had to be patient.

Through research facilities that have won world recognition, the Canadian pulp and paper industry consistently sheds new light on the advantages of wood. This more paper than ever before is manufactured from a sort of pulpwood. This species and parts of trees once considered useless are converted into paper and many other products. New methods, new techniques, new products, and new ways of increasing the forest wealth are continuously being devised. And pulp and paper—the leading light in the nation's economy—continues at the forefront of Canadian growth and progress.
